And it's definitely gold that the American team are after having assured themselves of a tomorrow's final with the victory over Canada today. One slightly puzzling aspect around the immensely talented squad is that they are not just the traditional rugby parties which rugby players are renowned for. The reason could well have something to do with the fact that they have brought a psychologist with them. Whatever the explanation it's nice to see such a level of professionalism. A side of place for the spirit of the Game.

The truth is that the British simply played a couple of levels above themselves in holding what was the nucleus of Israel's Olympic soccer squad to such a tight scoreline.

The writing was on the wall for Israel in the very first minute when Bradley Lazarus, who plays his soccer for Wingate-Finchley in north London, found himself clean through only to be denied by Israel 'keeper Liron Strauber.

The rest of the half saw the British defense, superbly marshalled by captain Paul Van Gelder and Brett Issit hold the twin Haifa strike threat of Maccabi's Shai Holtzman and Hapoel's Dinar Gurman with consummate ease.

close season buy from Netanya was made to look at the best ordinary by the British back four, and with goalkeeper Simon Zamet in excellent form, the Israelis never looked like scoring. With just three minutes to the interval Andy Myers, a Leeds University student beat Strauber with a superb left foot shot to give Britain a deserved lead.

The second half saw the Israelis desperately throwing everything into attack. Substitute Eran Zang of Maccabi Netanya took the scores with an angled shot in the 50th minute, and Betanin defender Tomer Azar headed home the winner from a free kick in the 61st minute.

President Weizman's Greetings to the Fourteenth Maccabiah

July 1993

I am delighted that this Fourteenth Maccabiah has brought you to Israel, and I am certain that your visit will be a special and enriching experience both in sport and in a closer relationship between you and the State and people of Israel.

During the Games you will not only face challenges in sport but have an opportunity to understand more fully the challenges we in Israel face after 45 years of the State's existence.

All of us should remember that, in the final analysis, the Jewish people can fulfil its destiny only here, in the Land of Israel. More than any other country, Israel must develop high standards, excellence, the will to attain outstanding achievements. Sportsmen like yourselves are uniquely capable of appreciating these qualities, and you, in fact, practice them in your own lives.

It is my earnest hope that the Fourteenth Maccabiah will reach new heights and splendid accomplishments worthy of the persistence and effort you have invested in developing your talents.

I trust that all of you will be participating successfully in fascinating, fair, and comradely contests. Above all, I dare to hope that in future Maccabiah Games a great many of you will be wearing the blue and white of Israeli teams.

Let me wish you all success and a very pleasant stay.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE BRITISH MACCABIAH ORGANISING COMMITTEE 14TH MACCABIAH

The British Contingent attending the 14th Maccabiah acquitted itself well and took part in a record number of different sports, including, for the first time, netball and mens' hockey and after many years of non-participation, also in water polo. The standard of performance, particularly in these new sports, was as expected, somewhat below par but it augurs well for the future that we are widening the range of participation. The Management worked very hard and was successful in maintaining the team spirit in spite of the fact that the accommodation of the team, of necessity, was spread over a wide geographical area in Israel. The outstanding personal performance was that of one of our swimmers, Mr. Clapper who broke the 200 metre breast stroke record of the Maccabiah.

The world-wide participation was most impressive and included a substantial number of Masters competitors.

The British team had the gracious support through goodwill messages from HRH the Duke of Edinburgh as well as the Prime Minister, the Rt. Hon. John Major.

It is my pleasant duty to thank all our friends and sponsors throughout the U.K. who so generously supported the efforts of the Organising Committee which made it possible for us to send a record number of 325 participants to this prestigious event.

MESSAGE FROM THE GREAT BRITAIN TEAM MANAGER AND CHAIRMAN OF SPORTS COMMITTEE

Following the mixture of pride and elation I felt at having been appointed Great Britain's Team Manager for the 14th Maccabiah, there followed the feeling of "What have I let myself in for?". This feeling continued for many months and intensified as the Games grew closer.

Now that it is all over I know exactly "What I let myself in for" and "why". The excitement on arrival in Israel, the emotion of Yad Vashem, the spectacle of the opening ceremony and the thrill of watching Martin Goldberg and Alex Clapper win Gold in exhilarating finals. To receive so many letters particularly from our Juniors saying such things as "it was the best time I ever had in my whole life" and how much they "enjoyed the whole experience including seeing Israel for the first time and meeting teenagers from all over the world".

For those in my management team, living and breathing Maccabiah became a way of life and I would like to pay a special tribute to my assistant team managers Henry Minkoff and Maurice Weitzman for their dedication and commitment. They were never in medal contention but how they deserved one. Our thorough preparation was well rewarded with a comparatively smooth running operation. Some problems were inevitable and most were overcome. The flights, uniforms, fund-raising, accommodation, sports registration, transport (we hired a fleet of 33 cars and mini-buses), injury treatment and communications all had to be co-ordinated. No mean task for professionals let alone volunteers, which of course we were.

Likewise, the Israeli organisation involved hundreds of people, many of them manning the offices at Kfar Maccabiah 24 hours a day with departments for each aspect of the Games (imagine moving 5,500 people daily from 30 hotels to over 30 different sports venues). Beds were provided for staff who had to spend the night, many of whom did not see their families for two weeks. All volunteers, all believing in the common cause of giving Jewish people from around the world a unique experience. A particular thank you to Eyal Tiberger and Gali who spent so much of their time attending to Great Britain's specific requirements.

Every four years the Maccabiah gets bigger and more costly. Somehow we have succeeded in taking larger squads competing in more sports (159 in 1985, 251 in 1989 and 320 in 1993). No doubt this brochure will give an indication of the enormity of our task. Where we go from here, how we cope with the future fund-raising and what role Maccabi will play in all this must be the subject of in-depth discussion.

Before concluding I must express my thanks to my management team, conveners, managers, athletics, sponsors, supporters and the office staff at Gildesgame House for helping to make our participation in the Games possible.

So what had I let myself in for? I can do no better than to leave you with an extract from the Jerusalem Post 18th July 1993 - "A remarkable ingathering of all our people - a Jewish sporting jamboree for all ages and, even more importantly, for all levels of ability and disability which strengthens Judaism across the globe and reinforces the centrality of Israel to Jewish life. Long live the Jewish people. Long live the Maccabiah".

Stuart Lustigman

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN BRITISH MACCABIAH ORGANISING COMMITTEE

Taking the Chair of the Organising Committee for the XIV Maccabiah Games was no easy task, and once again the fates decreed that Terry and I were not to be present. I sincerely hope that the next Chairman will have the pleasure of seeing his work come to fruition.

I should like to pay tribute to the members of the Organising Committee for the outstanding work they put in on what was surely the hardest task of any previous Maccabiah committee. One and all, you were magnificent.

I must pay tribute to every Sports Convener and their supporting sub-committees. We asked and demanded the impossible, and between us all we achieved it. No words of mine can describe the enormous responsibility you took on to ensure the participation of our team at the Maccabiah.

"Sincerely" thank you to everybody.

A special word of thanks must go to our advertisers, fundraisers and sponsors. During a most difficult period in the heart of a recession, the help we sought was given when it was most needed, this help could have been so easily refused. Without you our team could not have participated.

I must pay tribute to our Team Manager, Stuart Lustigman, for the work, time, energy and enthusiasm that he put in on your behalf, also to the entire Management team for everything they did before and during the Games.

A special word of thanks to the many supporters who accompanied the team to Israel. Your presence and enthusiasm was greatly appreciated and we hope you enjoyed the experience.

Many thanks to our office staff at Maccabi Union for their assistance, support and help.

Finally, I must end with a warning for all future Maccabiah committees both here and in Israel. There is a limit as to how much a community can raise when appealing for funds and the cost of sending teams to the Maccabiah is escalating out of all proportion.

We are a voluntary organisation and there is only so much we can ask of our people for the work that has to be done. This last Maccabiah for us here in Great Britain showed that we have pushed everyone to the limit. We placed all our committees under enormous pressure, far more than they had any right to expect. We were fortunate they responded in the manner that they did.

The Maccabiah must not place itself in a position so that the people who support it cannot meet its demands. A reappraisal of the entire structure of the Games needs to be looked at most carefully.

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN

OF THE INTERNATIONAL MACCABIAH COMMITTEE

The 14th Maccabiah, for which all of us have worked so long and hard is now part of Maccabi History.

It has been a great and memorable occasion for everyone concerned and also for the People of Israel.

We witnessed an unprecedented participation from 57 countries, of nearly 6000 athletes, all motivated by the wish to be part of a unique Jewish event. The British team, as usual, was an example of sportsmanship, Maccabi spirit and excellent organization.

Mention should also be made of the generosity of those, who sponsored the teams and thus made participation possible.

The task of everyone concerned in Jewish sport is to spend the next four years in improving performance levels so that the 15th Maccabiah can be an even more successful Jewish Sports event.

With Maccabi Greetings

Michael Kevehazi

Dear Mr. Gradon,

The Duke of Edinburgh has asked me to thank you for your letter of 15th March which contained the excellent news that the British team taking part in the Maccabiah Games will be the largest contingent ever sent from this country.

His Royal Highness has asked me to convey to you his best wishes to the team for the Games.

Perhaps you could let me have the results in due course so that I can inform Prince Philip of the outcome.

*Yours sincerely,

THE PRIME MINISTER

I am delighted to send the British team my very best wishes for the forthcoming 14th International Maccabiah Games.

The Games are an excellent opportunity for Jewish athletes from all over the world to come together in Israel in friendly competition in a wide range of sports including, I am pleased to hear, cricket. The founding philosophy of the Games was to develop "sound minds in sound bodies". I am sure that the athletic and other sporting events are most effective in achieving this goal, but the benefits go beyond the individual as the games help to spread a spirit of international co-operation and goodwill.

Dear Mr. Lustigman,

May I welcome you and all the British team members to Israel to take part in the 14th Maccabiah Games which promises to be a wonderful and unforgettable experience.

As you are aware, I have arranged with the Maccabiah organisers to hold a reception for members of your team at the Residence on the evening of 8 July, as well as representatives from the Maccabiah Games, the Israel Olympic Committee and other colleagues connected with sport and with the Anglo-Jewish community in Israel. I very much hope that you, your team captains and team managers will all be able to come. An invitation is enclosed. Perhaps you could contact Charles Jacobson at the Embassy (tel. 03 5249171) to confirm how many of you will be coming.

I very much look forward to meeting you on 8 July (and hearing of your progress in the first few days of the Games). Until then I wish you all every success, and an exciting and memorable visit to Israel.

Yours sincerely,

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF DEPUTIES OF BRITISH JEWS

It gives me great pleasure to send the greetings of the Board of Deputies of British Jews to the participants in the 14th Maccabiah. We naturally rejoice in the presence of a substantial and gifted team from the United Kingdom, but our good wishes go to all of you who join in this great world sporting event and stirring Jewish occasion in Israel.

The traditions of Maccabi are not limited to sport but extend also to positive Jewish commitment in so many fields. I am proud to be British Jewry's spokesman to you as you assemble in competitive spirit but with achdut in your hearts.

16th July 1993

Dear John,

RE: 14th Maccabiah Games 1993

Now that we have reached the conclusion of the 1993 Maccabiah, and as we have not had very much opportunity to speak during all the hectic times at the various tennis locations I have decided to sit and write you a few words.

Judith & I have been to Israel many times, the many more than I, but I must say that this is one time when all the events of the past two weeks will not be forgotten, in particular the closing ceremony last evening in Jerusalem, which was very moving.

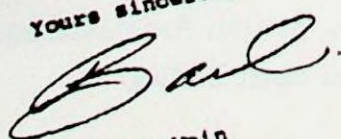

We were told many times before we left that the games generate a "camaraderie" that is quite unique, and indeed it is. In short I consider the games to have been the most enjoyable Jewish sporting event to have participated in. I consider it a privilege to be a competitor in games such as these, and it is something I will never forget.

I am aware that in managing events such as these can be a nightmare for those responsible, especially when you have to deal with possible individual complaints and the usual moans and groans. I did not envy your task, which I know was not easy, and I certainly did not want to make any comment that might cause any problem to team spirit etc.

Your efforts as team manager for the tennis have been most supportive to all of us, and as a team member I would like to thank you for selecting me and for all your valued support throughout the games. I am only sorry that I did not do a little better, but then there is always next time. I sincerely appreciate everything that you have done in making these games so enjoyable. I hope that when the time comes again to deal with the next Maccabiah I will be able to assist you and qualify again.

Kind regards

Yours sincerely,

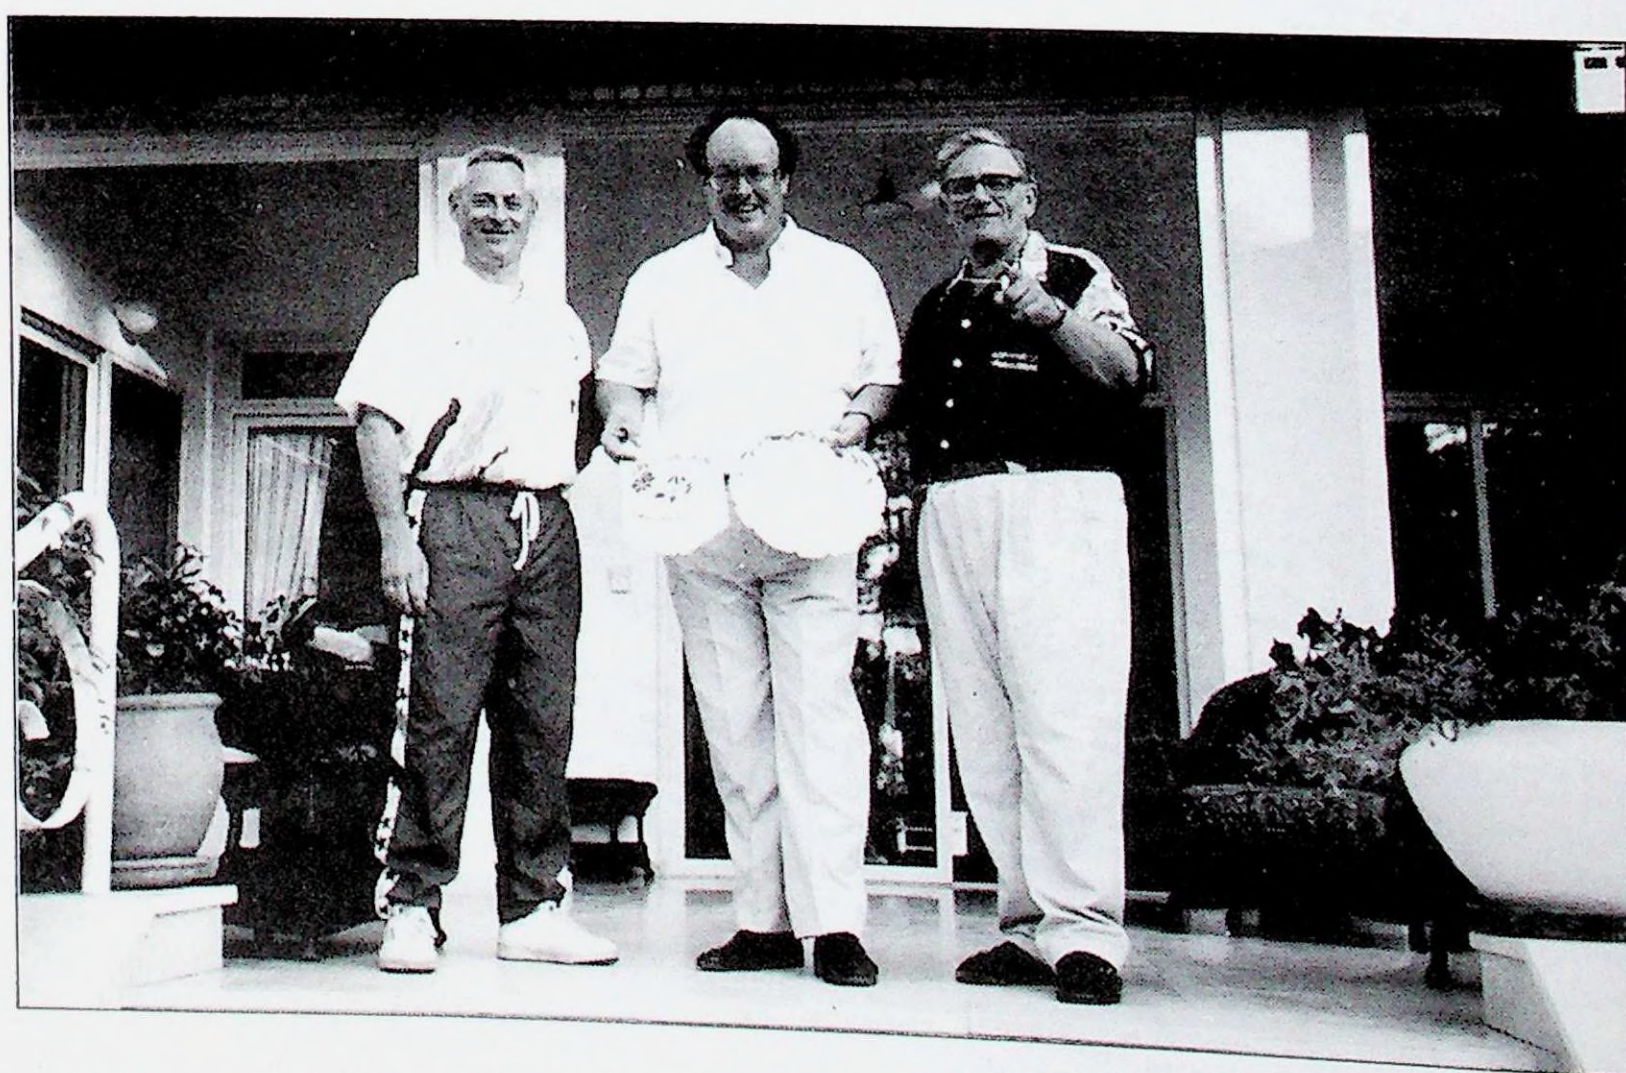

Basil L Wein

Dear Stuart,
I hope you're keeping well & have fully recovered after the events of the past few months.
I just wanted to thank both you & your wife for all your help with the Maccabiah & for including me in the G.B. team. I had the most amazing time even though I was bitterly disappointed at not getting a medal in the 800m after coming so close. Mind you it was my second fastest time ever so I shouldn't really complain. However it's one race I'll never forget for the rest of my life!

I thought I would mention, in case I'm no longer competing in 4 years time, that if you need a Team Manager for Track & Field please bear me in mind. It's a job I would love to do.

Also if you're willing to look at ways in which "Jewish Sport" can be developed in this country so that we have a full contingent in all sports (especially Athletics!) for the next Games please call me: 081-446-1626 (Home)

Dear Mr. Lustigman,

Thank you very much for giving me the chance to umpire Netball at the Maccabiah Games in Israel. Also for your help and communication leading up to the Games. I had two wonderful weeks in Tel Aviv and enjoyed every day so much. The Netball was a success, ending with a nail-biting final!

Again, Thank you very much. I shall remember these Games for a very long time and keep my fingers crossed that I may be able to take part again.

Best Wishes,

Boyle

By the way I thought the Study Tour was a great idea. It certainly gave me the opportunity to visit places in Israel I'd never been to before & probably wouldn't have visited on my own.

Once again thanks for having me in the team, I have some wonderful memories I will always treasure.
Hope to hear from you soon.

Dear Stuart,

I would just like to say how much I enjoyed the games. I didn't win a medal or a match, but I really enjoyed the experience, the people I met in Israel and Israel itself.

I think the organisation of the transport to the games and back was excellent, I also thought the tours before and after the games were really good. I really enjoyed the opening and closing ceremony. The best feeling was feeling part of a team. I know that all the juniors were really close, and when possible tried to watch each others sports.

Thanks again for providing me with the best three and a half weeks I have ever had in my life.

See you in 97, when I'll get the gold!

Dear Stuart,

We have just returned home from the most wonderful 3½ weeks of our lives. The Maccabiah was an incredible experience and we'd like to thank you, Susan, and all the Organising Committee for making it all possible.

Yours sincerely,

Helen & Graham Freeman.

HISTORY OF THE MACCABIAH

The decision to hold an international of MACCABIAH of Jewish athletes in Eretz Israel was taken at the International Maccabi Congress held in Czechoslovakia in 1929. It was a daring endeavour to hold the Games in Tel Aviv, a town of only 50,000 residents, there being a shortage of both financial resources and sporting facilities. The Stadium built in Northern Tel Aviv was completed on the eve of the opening of the Games in Spring 1932. 390 athletes from 14 countries participated including a delegation from Great Britain who paid £35 each (cf. £1500 today).

The second Games known as the "ALIYAH MACCABIAH" were held in April 1935 and many athletes took advantage of the opportunity to remain in the Country to avoid the shadow of the Nazis rise to power in Germany and the increase of anti-semitism in Europe. The entire Bulgarian team decided not to return home but instead sent back the delegation's flag. 1,350 athletes from 28 countries competed in 21 sports.

With the intervention of World War II, Arab violence as well as the assumption of the British Mandatory authorities that the Games would lead to illegal immigration, the 3rd MACCABIAH did not take place until 1950, the first to be held after the establishment of the State of Israel. The Games were held in a new stadium in Ramat Gan with a capacity of 50,000 spectators (the same one as used today) but because of the effects of the Holocaust only 800 athletes from 19 countries participated.

The fourth MACCABIAH was held in 1953 when 50,000 spectators witnessed the attendance of 890 athletes from 21 countries. At the conclusion of these games it was proposed to build a permanent Maccabiah village (Kfar Maccabiah) for participating athletes.

The fifth MACCABIAH held in 1957 was attended by athletes from 20 countries and were distinguished by the presence of a number of international stars who participated in various events.

Following recognition by the International Olympic Committee and accorded the status of a Regional Sports Event the sixth MACCABIAH, held in 1961 attracted more than 1,000 athletes from 27 countries.

By 1965 the seventh MACCABIAH was attended by more than 1,200 competitors from 25 countries participating in 21 sports. A 15 year old American boy won 3 swimming gold medals, his name - Mark Spitz. For the first time in Maccabiah history, a woman and Israeli champion, Devorah Turner, who had immigrated from Great Britain, carried the Maccabiah torch into the stadium.

1969 and the eighth MACCABIAH had grown to include nearly 1,500 athletes from 27 countries competing in 22 sports events.

The ninth MACCABIAH, held in 1973, took place in the year following the massacre of 11 Israeli athletes at the Munich Olympic games. An overflow crowd at the opening ceremony paid silent homage to the memory of the murdered athletes.

The tenth or Jubilee MACCABIAH was the largest ever with more than 2,700 athletes from 33 countries participating in 26 sports with 55 records being broken.

The eleventh MACCABIAH was held in July 1981 with 3,450 athletes from 30 countries participating in 30 different sports.

Mark Spitz lit the MACCABIAH flame for the twelfth Games in 1985 where 4,000 athletes from 40 countries competed in 28 different sports. Great Britain's delegation was 160 including Gary Wilson who set new Track and Field records in retaining his double gold medals in the 100 and 200m.

The Barmitzvah MACCABIAH of 1989 hosted a record number of athletes totalling 4,500 from 45 countries competing in 30 sports. Great Britain's contingent had now grown to over 250 and the 4th largest behind Israel, USA and Canada.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE MACCABI MOVEMENT

At the end of the 19th century, the pogroms and ruthless destruction of Jewish communities in Eastern Europe inspired the Jewish leadership to establish and promote physical education among young Jews so that they would be able to defend their communities in times of danger. In order to develop principles of good citizenship and a sense of kinship with their fellow Jews, the organizers also introduced cultural and educational aspects to the programme. At first, the physical training consisted only of gymnastics, but it slowly expanded to include a variety of bodybuilding and competitive sports.

From Eastern Europe, the movement spread to other communities. In 1895, Constantinople opened its first all Jewish gymnastics club. Bulgaria followed next. Finally, in 1898, Central Europe founded the Bar Kochba Berlin club. The initiative to form more clubs also derived from a new wave of anti-Semitism that forced Jewish members to resign from the German clubs at the time.

The Jewish clubs formed a loose association known as the Judische Turnerschaft. The delegates of the Judische Turnerschaft decided to set up a new central organization, the Maccabi World Union. In the constitution of this new organization, its aims were clearly defined: "to foster physical education, belief in Jewish heritage and the Jewish nation, and to work actively for the rebuilding of our own country and for the preservation of our people".

Between 1918 and 1939 Maccabi, particularly in Europe, reached its zenith. Maccabi's athletes proved themselves of high standards and capable of great successes. They belonged to the elite in their countries and represented their nations in international events and the Olympic Games. European Maccabi Games with athletic achievements at an international level were held regularly. At the same time, the ideals of Maccabi became firmly rooted in many Latin American countries, in the Far East, the Middle East, Australia and in Africa.

The Second World War brought the entire movement in Europe to a grinding halt. Yet it was precisely in the thirties that Maccabi enjoyed two of its most outstanding events - the 1932 and 1935 Maccabiah Games in Eretz Israel. At the 1929 Maccabi World Union Congress at Ostrava, Czechoslovakia, Yosef Yekutieli represented MACCABI Israel, suggested the sponsorship of regular sports tournaments for Jewish athletes in Israel.

*I saw the netball team one day, was I impressed !!
You girls can play. My eyes were out on storks watching all you seven,
I thought I had died and gone straight up to heaven,
So go on girls go for gold, and, if I may be so bold,
I'll risk a punch on my hooter,
To say you have a gorgeous shooter*

Stuart Lustigman Esq
Team manager
British Maccabiah Organising Committee

Dear Stuart

We were delighted to supply the British Team with equipment for the XIVth Maccabiah Games and once again would like to congratulate the team on their achievements.

It was particularly gratifying to see that our sister company, Speedo International, through its distributor in Israel, Pelig Nil Ltd, was the major clothing sponsor for the Games itself.

Let's hope that we shall have an even bigger team for the next Maccabiah.

Every good wish.

Very sincerely

Stephen Rubin
